Configuring Multiple Email Accounts on iPhone

The iPhone and iPod Touch can be configured to access multiple email accounts. Instructions for Vmail, Windows Live Hotmail, and Gmail follow.

Create a New Email Account
To create an email account on your iPhone or iPod, open Settings and select Mail, Contacts, Calendars.
Select the email service you wish to add as indicated in the examples below.

Vmail example

Gmail example

Windows Live (Hotmail) example

After selecting a service, enter the email address and password and other information requested, see below. When complete, select Next.

Vmail example

Gmail example

Windows Live (Hotmail) example
Once email service settings have been verified, the service will be available in the Mail app. Some services allow for additional calendar and contact synching. Below is an example of the Mail app with all three services configured.